THE DAILY BULLETIN.

Published every afternoon and delivered in this city, the suburbs and Aberdeen by our carriers, at 6 CENTS a week.

It is welcomed in the households of men of both political parties, for the reason that it is more of a newspaper than a political journal.

Its wide circulation therefore makes it a valuable vehicle for business announcements, which we respectfully invite to our columns.

A CHRISTMAS STORY.

HOW THE STOCKINGS WERE FILLED.

Pussy got into the house somehow, just as the least little streak of morning light was beginning to peep through the window curtains, and stole up stairs. She jumped upon the bed and rubbed her cold nose against Lill's face, and wakened her.

Lill sprang up in bed, for it came to her like a flash, "It's Christmas day!"

"Bessie, wake up! Merry Christmas!" she cried, and in half a minute four little bare feet were pattering down stairs to the sitting-room, after the Christmas stockings.

They hadn't a doubt of finding them full. Santa Claus had never forgotten them yet.

You can imagine, then, their dismay when each little girl clasped a limp and empty stocking, with not so much as a sugar-plum to fill out the toe.

They ran to mamma's bed-room to pour out their complaints.

"Santa Claus forgot us!" cried Lill, with starting tears.

"He didn't bring us anything!" said Bessie, throwing herself across her mother's feet in agony of grief.

"I think it's too bad!" said Lill.

"He's real mean. I'll never like him again!" said Bessie.

"Oh, go back to bed," said mamma. "You've got up too early. How do you expect Santa Claus can always get round before daylight? There are such numbers of little boys and girls, the wonder is that he gets round at all. He'd never forget you, I'm sure. Go back, and curl down in bed till it's really light. Then get up and dress yourselves nicely, before you come down, and you'll see what you'll see."

Rather disconsolate, the little girls went back to bed.

"You needn't feel so bad, Bessie Bradley. Haven't you found out more'n a hundred times, that mamma knows about things better'n we do?" said Lill.

"I ain't feeling bad, any mor'n you are! and Santa Claus is a comin' in 'bout nine or eight minutes," said Bessie.

While waiting for daylight they talked of the presents they hoped to have, and as soon as the sun peeped above the eastern horizon they were up, and putting on their clothes as quickly as possible, went down stairs.

There was nobody in the sitting-room. A fire was burning in the grate, and the stockings hung against the mantel, but they still looked limp.

They were not near enough to be sure they were empty, when a loud "Toot! too too!" sounded from somewhere with a jingling of bells and a tramping of feet.

"He's coming! O Lill Bradley, old Santa's a comin'!" said Bessie, clinging to her sister's skirts. Lill held her breath, and said nothing.

The door flew open, and in bounded Santa Claus, sure enough! He wore a very furry coat, a red cap, high and pointed at the top, and bound with fur. His eyes were hidden behind great silver-rimmed spectacles, and his hair and beard were long, and white as snow.

Mamma came out of the bedroom just then, and Bessie and Lill sided up to her, and caught each one of her hands, feeling half afraid of the queer, "jolly old elf," and then stood, silent and watching.

The great pack upon Santa's back didn't seem to be empty yet, and there were packages peeping out of every pocket, out of the breast of his coat, and even out of his sleeves. He seemed in a tearing hurry.

"Whew! whew!" said he. "This is the first chance I've had to take breath since I started out last night. So many youngsters to visit this year! I thought I never should get round. Whew! how hot it is here. Well, let's see!"

He whirled the pack from his back, down on the rug, and began rumaging vigorously among the packages within it. "Only two stockings to fill here, and little ones at that. I've lots of presents left over."

He drew out a package, held his head on one side with a funny little grimace as he peeped into it, and then thrust into Lill's red stocking.

"That's a doll, I know!" whispered Lill, squeezing her mother's hand.

A similar package went into Bessie's blue one. Then other, smaller packages, till the stockings would hold no more.

All the time he worked he kept jerking out funny little speeches about the children and their wants, as if he knew all about them.

Lill and Bessie were in a state of joyful excitement. Lill thought there was something familiar about the voice, or the motions, or something; she couldn't tell what.

"I believe I've seen him before! Else I dreamed I did! Else he's some like father!" she whispered.

Her mother laughed aloud at this. It made old Santa Claus look up from his work, and he seemed to espouse the little group in the corner for the first time.

"Bless my stars!" he ejaculated, beginning to gather up hastily from the rug the parcels that had fallen out of his pack.

"Bless my stars and stripes! Folks mustn't see me about this business!"

He threw his pack over his back, and then putting his hands deep in his side pockets, drew them out full, and a shower of sugar-plums pelted the little girls, as he hurried out of the room.

Just as he was going he threw a big package at their mother, saying:

"That's for the old lady, there! Came pretty near forgetting her."

Lill knew the voice in which this was said, and cried out:

"It's father! It's father!"

They sprang after him and led him back into the room in laughing triumph.

They took off the pointed cap and the blue spectacles. They brushed the flour from his eyebrows, and rubbed the red from his cheeks. They robbed him of the pillow that had made him look so "chubby and plump," and the gray wig and beard that made him look so venerable.

And when they came to examine the contents of the stockings they were more than ever delighted to have for a Santa Claus their own dear father.—Youth's Companion.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

The expressed juice of green walnut shells diluted with water is used for dying blonde hair a light brown.

A little spirit of turpentine added to the water with which the floors are washed will prevent the ravages of moths.

Use kerosene, or bath brick or powdered lime to scour iron, tin or copper; wash in hot suds and polish with dry whiting.

To remove spots from furniture, four ounces of vinegar, two ounces of sweet oil, one ounce of turpentine. Mix and apply with a flannel cloth.

Spirits of ammonia diluted with water, if applied with a sponge or flannel to discolored spots on the carpets or garments, will restore the color.

Skim milk and water, with a little bit of glue in it, made scalding hot, will remove old rusty black erape. If clapped and pressed dry, like fine muslin, it will look as good as new.

When carpets are well cleaned sprinkle with salt and fold; when laid strew with slightly moistened bran before sweeping. This, with the salt, will freshen them up wonderfully.

A paste made of whiting and benzoin will clean marble, and one made of whiting and chloride of soda, spread and left to dry (in the sun if possible) on the marble will remove spots.

An explosion occurred on Monday in a colliery at Bolton, England. It is reported that one hundred and fifty lives were lost.

GEN. JOS. E. JOHNSTON, in an interview published in the Philadelphia Press, charges that ex-president Davis received $2,500,000 from the Confederate Treasury on the evacuation of Richmond, for which he has never accounted.

LAST Sunday while Ed. Tudor, Robert Scott, Willie O'Brien, Harvey Schatzman, and several other little boys were playing in a lot near the old slaughter house property, a dog they had with them unearthed a cigar box which was found to contain the fetus of a white child. The city officers were informed of the find, but as yet have been unable to trace the matter to any responsible source. The box was buried again where it was found.

SMALL POX.

The Number of Cases at Cincinnati Increasing Daily—The Laws of this State Concerning Vaccination.

If reports are true, the terrible scourge small pox, has increased at Cincinnati during the last two weeks to a most alarming extent. From the publications in the papers of that city, we learn that during last week from five to fifteen new cases were reported each day. The Board of Health recognizing the necessity of taking some action to prevent the further spread of the disease, has opened an office where all who wish may be vaccinated free of charge. Every day last week four or five physicians were kept busy at the office. Eight hundred and two persons were vaccinated. But the question is was that action taken in time? Is there not great danger of the scourge being communicated to the neighboring towns. Is there any certainty that we will not have it here? In view of this would it not be well to take some precautionary measures. Why delay until the disease has appeared in our midst. Why not have the statute of the State and the ordinance of the city concerning vaccination enforced. We presume that many of our readers do not know the provisions of these laws and we therefore produce them below:

SEC. 1. All persons of the age of twenty-one years and over, who have not been vaccinated or, if vaccinated, not successfully, shall within three months after this revision takes effect, procure their own vaccination, or revaccination as the case may be.

SEC. 2. All parents, guardians, and other persons having the care, custody or control of any child or children, or who may have in their employ any minor or minors, shall have the same vaccinated; and every parent, guardian, and other person that may have the care, custody, or control of any child born hereafter, shall have said child vaccinated within twelve months after its birth, or after it comes under his or her care, custody or control.

The statute also requires justices of the peace to authorize practicing physicians to vaccinate all the persons who are unable to pay for same and prescribes the manner in which the physicians shall receive their compensation for such service. The most important section is the one that reads as follows:

"All vaccinations performed under this article shall be with pure vaccine matter."

The statute further says that each of the persons referred to in the above sections shall be liable to a fine of from five to twenty dollars for every failure or refusal to comply therewith. It would be interesting to know how many persons there are in Maysville who have failed to comply with the requirements of this law.

There are no doubt great many. We will ask also if the Committee on Education have carried out the provisions of the city ordinance on this subject. The section referring to the matter is as follows:

SEC. 4. Be it further ordained that the Committee on Education shall require all children in attendance upon the Public Schools of the city to produce a physician's certificate that they have been vaccinated, and, in case of the refusal or failure of any child to produce such certificate, as required such child, to absent himself or herself from the city schools until he or she shall have complied with the provisions of this ordinance.

ALBERT'S China Palace, as is usual at this season of the year is fairly ablaze with pretty things for the holidays. The stock in every department has been newly replenished, and on every hand there may be seen a most dazzling display. The toy department is especially complete and has already attracted throngs of buyers. The prices are very low this season and the stock, as well if not better selected than usual. Buyers of holiday goods are invited to call with the assurance that their wants will be supplied upon the most satisfactory terms. The display is well worth going to see and even though you do not wish to buy you will be made welcome.

HOWARTH'S Hibernica will appear at Washington Opera House on Friday and Saturday, December 30th and 31st. Remember the dates.

The Names of the States.

New Hampshire gets its name from Hampshire, England. Massachusetts is derived from an Indian name, first given to the bay, signifying "near the great hills." Rhode Island has an obscure origin, the "Island of Rhodes," the "Island of Roads" and a Dutch origin, "Red Island," were mentioned, the first seeming to have the best historical support. Connecticut is an Indian name, signifying "land on a long tidal-river." Virginia, the Carolinas, and Georgia have a royal origin. Maine was named from the fact that it was supposed to contain the "mayne portion" of New England. Vermont has no especial question, except that it is claimed to have first been an alias—New Connecticut, alias Vermont. Kentucky popularly signifies either a "dark and bloody ground," or "a bloody river," but its origin signifies "the head of a river," or "the long river." Tennessee comes from its river, the name being derived from the name of an Indian village on the river—"Tennessee." Ohio is named after an Indian name, signifying "something great," with an accent of admiration. Indiana comes from the name of an early land company. Illinois from the Indian—the name of a tribe. Michigan is claimed to mean "lake country;" it probably came from the name of the lake, "Great Lake," which bore this name before the land adjacent was named. Louisiana is from the French. Arkansas and Missouri are Indian, the former being doubtful; the latter is claimed to mean in its original "muddy water, which describes the river. Iowa is also Indian, with doubtful meaning. Texas is popularly supposed to be Indian, but may be Spanish. Florida is Spanish, "a flowery land." Oregon has a conjectural origin. It is probably Indian, but a Spanish origin is claimed. California come from a Spanish romance of 1510. Nevada takes its name from the mountains, who get theirs from a resemblance to the Nevadas of South America. Minnesota is Indian, "skytinted water." Nebraska is variously rendered "shallow water" and "flat country." Kansas is from an Indian root, Kaw, corrupted by the French. Mississippi is "great water," or "whole river." Alabama is Indian, the name of a fortress and a tribe, signifying, as is claimed, "here we rest."

A City of Lambert Light.

From the Keokuk Constitution.

The city of Aurora, Ill., forty miles west of Chicago, affords a striking spectacle of the revolution in lighting cities by the electric tower plan. At night the city is bathed in a flood of lambent light, and her citizens are in a state of delighted enthusiasm over the splendid practical results achieved. The system consists of six electrical towers, made of iron rods and net work, each 150 feet high. These are crowned with electric lamps of 2,000 candle power each, or equal to 125 gas jets.

The cost complete for each tower and apparatus is about \$1,000. One electric tower lamp, fed by soft coal at \$3 per ton gives a 2,000 candle light at 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents per hour—a ratio of 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 50 compared to a corresponding use of gas-light. The people of Aurora are universally jubilant over the result of the adoption of the new system and express the most earnest and complete satisfaction with the brush tower plan in all its bearings and aspects.

Celery boiled in milk and eaten with the milk served as a beverage is said to be a cure for rheumatism, gout, and a specific in cases of small-pox. Nervous people find comfort in celery.

Mrs. Scoville, the sister of Guiteau the assassin, thinks he has been drugged since he has been confined in jail, as the only explanation of the great change that has come over him of late.

The Cincinnati grain trade has during the past year become better defined and organized than ever before, and in token of this advance a grain men's banquet will be given during the holidays.

Dr. Graham is living at Louisville, at the age of ninety-eight. He hunted and camped out with the celebrated Daniel Boone. Thirty years ago he was considered the best rifle shot in the world.

The present run of coal from Pittsburg will amount to 7,000,000 bushels, two-thirds of which is for the southern markets. A large amount of Kanawha coal is also coming for the Cincinnati market.

Two desperadoes, named Patton and Malloy, were completely riddled with bullets near Leadville, Col.
